Auto-enrolment & Workplace Pension Reform

The UK Government's new Workplace Pension regime came into effect in October 2012. Each employer has a specific date on which they must automatically enroll certain members of their workforce into a 'qualifying' pension scheme. Employers will need to make contributions on behalf of members who opt to stay in the scheme or certain members who chose to join the scheme. This initially came into force for large employers and smaller employers will follow. The 'staging date' for each is dictated by the employee head count on 1st April 2012.

Failure to meet your responsibilities below could result in daily fines of up to £500 per day!!!

What are your Employer responsibilities?

What are the benefits of a Pension?

Below you will see an illustration of the taxation benefits of saving using pensions. Basic rate taxpayers receive 20% tax relief on contributions, what this means is for every 80p contributed the government also pay in 20p. The added benefit of Auto-enrolment is your employer also contributes.

Employee Aged 50 Salary
	£25,000	Employer	Employee	Employee (net)	Tax Relief
Year 1		1%	1%		0.80%
Year 2		2%	3%		2.40%
Year 3		3%	5%		4.00%
Year 4		3%	5%		4.00%
Year 5		3%	5%		4.00%
Year 1		£250		£200	£50
Year 2		£500		£600	£150
Year 3		£750		£1,000	£250
Year 4		£750		£1,000	£250
Year 5		£750		£1,000	£250
Total		£3,000		£3,800	£950
Total					£7,750
25% Tax Free					£1,938
Remainder taxed @20%					£4,650
Total Income					£6,588
Total Cost for Employee					£3,800
Return					£2,788

*N.B. rates used in the table are for illustrative purposes and are not a guarantee of future expected returns.

The table shows that a pot of £7,750 (excluding any investment performance or charges) costs a basic rate taxpayer just £3,800. At age 55 the employee could cash in their entire pot and assuming they are subject to basic rate tax this would result in receiving a total of £6,588. This represents a return of £2,788 or 73%! (Based on employee contribution cost)
